

A photograph of a desert landscape at sunset. The sky is filled with orange and yellow clouds, and the sun is a bright circle on the horizon. In the foreground, there are rolling sand dunes. In the distance, two camels with riders are visible on the dunes.

The diagram features a horizontal line at the top. Below it, a list of eight technical skills is presented, each followed by a level indicator. A curved line descends from the right side of the list, leading to a light gray rectangular box with a drop shadow. This box is labeled 'Niveau' and has a small circular tab on its right side. Another curved line extends from the bottom of the box towards the bottom right corner of the image.

Merzouga

Merzouga is a small village in southeastern Morocco, about 35 km (22 mi) southeast of Rissani, about 55 km (34 mi) from Erfoud, and about 50 km (31 mi) from the Algerian border. The village is known for its proximity to Erg Chebbi, and it is for this reason a part of the itineraries of many tourists visiting Morocco.[1] It has been described as "a desert theme park", and the Erg Chebbi as "a wonderland of sand".[2] Merzouga has the largest natural underground body of water in Morocco.
